Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) and I talked by phone this morning. She's assigned the review of the data to Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) because he's the engineer on rotation and because he was the original engineer. She acknowledges the data is quite a lot and thinks the review could be completed at earliest beginning of next week. We agreed that Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) should prioritize this case over incoming but there's no promises about the HHRA that would likely Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP). She does think that could be QCed by Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) instead of through Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP). She's going to give me an update later today once she hears from Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) and speaks to Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) too. Thanks!

Yes there is a finalized risk assessment from June 2020. From my discussions with the submitter Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Not sure what you mean. We would require respirators any time someone handles this as the dusty solid material.

For this category of chemical, do we require a specific level of respirators across the board?

As far as I can tell no review of the exposure monitoring data or update to worker exposure assessment. So everything needs to be done.

I did see a total of 5 engineering reports for this case. They probably never want to see it again.

Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) will probably want to know what still needs to be done. Did anyone review the exposure monitoring data?— does it change our worker exposure assessment?

Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) thanks for the heads up. Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) I'll have to elevate this to Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) as a "hair on fire" case. Do you think there's anything else to note for Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP)?

Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) I just spoke with the technical contact for these PMNs. They are going to write a letter to their Senator as the current delay in these PMNs will adversely affect their new $2.6 billion plant in Georgia. We can expect the letter to be sent by the end of next week.
